REPORT OF SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

In undertaking the administration of the new school law in its first year, the directors have sought to provide the best school privileges for all the children of the town, and to do so without unnecessary expense. For the present year it has not seemed necessary to maintain more than eight schools under our management. These are exclusive of the schools in No. 2, the management of which has been left to the corporation of the Academy, pursuant to authority given by vote of the town and to a practice of some years' standing under the old district system. We recommended to the selectmen a tax of 50 cents for school purposes, which we deemed sufficient for the expenses of the year, when added to the amount of the five per ct. state tax and the income of school lands and the Huntington fund. The estimate has proved quite accurate. Tax-payers should remember that 12 cents on the dollar of the grand list has been heretofore divided among the districts from the town treasury as public money, now no longer required; so that a 50 cent tax really means 38 cents as compared with taxes under the old system. The school year has been made 28 weeks in all schools under our management. Minor repairs have been made on most of the school-houses, and extensive repairs and re-furnishing on No. 11. The schools destitute of them have been supplied with an excellent chart, and a new map of Vermont has been put into the schools. The bill for the maps, $54, will not be due till Oct. 18, 1894, and its amount is not included below. The expenses of the year, as far as orders have been drawn at the date of this report, are as follows: Teachers' wages, $1236.67; board of teachers, $454; transportation, $161.20; fuel, $88.71; repairs, $43.23; new furniture, $70.73; Chelsea Academy, $875; incidentals, $47.32; total, $2976.86. We give below a more detailed account of the expense by schools.

TO THE TAX-PAYERS OF CHELSEA.

The excess of liabilities over resources, at the close of the present fiscal year, as the foregoing report will show, is $3,798.50, while one year ago it was only $1,156.46, making an increase of $2,642.04, a brief explanation of the cause of which may be acceptable to the tax-payers.

In the first place, there has been paid out on account of the $5000 town hall appropriation the sum of $1259.10.

There has been used in the support of the highways the sum of $62.60 more than the 20c. tax for that purpose.

There has been expended the sum of $33.15 for schools in excess of the 50c. tax for that purpose, which last three items amount to $1354.85.

The balance of the excess may be accounted for in the fact that the tax of 75c. on the dollar of the grand list for current expenses raised only $3,527.05, which when diminished by the treasurer's fee for collection, and the $255.34, the amount of the 4 per ct. allowed tax-payers, leaves a net sum of only $3210.43 as against $4466.63 raised for the same purpose the year before.

The long and short of the matter is that 75c. on a dollar of our present grand list is not sufficient to meet current expenses.

TOWN SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

Two hundred and six children have been under instruction outside the academy proper during the last year, of which 199 have been residents of the town and of school age. This gives an average of nearly 23 pupils per school,—the largest enrolment—44—being found in No. 2, and the smallest—12—in No. 15. Five schools have been taught throughout the year by natives of Chelsea.

The tax upon some of the teachers has been very great, and no remedy appears for this save that to which the town system looks of ultimate centralization and uniformity in grading. The instructor under the new regime is still practically in the same position as when controlled by the district, unless the more advanced pupils can be drawn into the academy. She is compelled to do the work of primary, intermediate and grammar grades to the detriment of her highest efficiency. Any one may readily see that if the teacher in any district were doing all primary or all intermediate or all grammar work, she could ~~not~~ do either more thoroughly than she can now do all together ; and that so long as we compel her to do all at once, we must either secure high priced instructors and see them harassed and worn by the quantity and variety of teaching exacted from them, or allow the schools to remain unimproved. It is not to the purpose to argue as some do : “ Our district school-house is large enough and comfortable enough to be occupied by more than we now send." Two rooms are over full already. This, however, is not the congestion we wish to relieve, but the crowding of time with classes ranging from primary spelling to civil government and algebra. Schools of three or five pupils might be permitted such a diversity ; but to do justice to a school of 23 thus distributed is impossible, and none will affirm this more confidently than the teacher herself. When with the best arrangement of classes, the teacher is forced to shorten the noon-hour and forego her own recess, to finish her work, it is time for the parents to begin thinking how they can spare her strength and concentrate her teaching power.

Just here the attention of parents is called to the false economy of withdrawing the children from school for a week at a time, and subordinating their feelings, their ideas of punctuality and their progress to a sawing or threshing machine and its operations. Such breaks occur in almost every district, and the course of the machine through the neighbourhood may be traced in the marks upon the register. Here is a practice old and well intrenched that needs to be driven out of existence. The school record is no place for our wood account or our harvesting account. Strangers will one day pass judgment upon us to our shame for this. No pupil likes to fall behind his mates. No pupil should be burdened with extra work. It is presumed that for the average pupil the regular work is sufficient. No pupil ought to be allowed to think that school is a luxury to be enjoyed at intervals, but that it is an essential part of every session day throughout his student life,—as much a duty as his daily meal or his nightly rest. We do violence to correct ideas of order and system whenever we let anything but sickness or impassable roads interrupt a child's school attendance. The indispensable condition for obtaining anything is continuous pursuit. This is true of an education. Punctual attendance puts the boy of ten beyond one of fifteen who has lost time. A little more planning at home and an exchange of work between adults will correct this evil.

Parental interest in school visiting is deficient throughout the town. When pupils do well they enjoy the witness of their parents, and when they are doing ill they need it. The teacher also is encouraged and aided by visits and mutual counsel. The good of the pupils demands like influences at home and at school. It is the purpose of the directors to place in the schools not only those who are apt to teach, but those who govern with tact. However good the home rule, hints on management may be obtained by observing the teacher's way; and child study, which is likely to become a new branch of instruction, can never be too exhaustively followed.

The infrequency of institutes and the occasional failure of the county examiner to inform the towns of their time and place, make it desirable that teachers should add to their pedagogical reading an acquaintance with the work of others, and they should be at liberty to take at least one day each term—the time of course to be made up—for visiting some well conducted school either at home or abroad. A monthly conference of all the teachers in town for an hour on Saturday may also be suggested as a means of growth and general improvement.

At some date in the year before us, to be fixed by the directors, the superintendent would recommend a convention of all the pupils, at which scholars from all districts may share in general exercises, and the most excellent work of each school be presented in illustration of what all ought to attain. It is believed that the competition thus evoked will incite teacher and taught to loftier endeavor. Nor can there be a doubt that the fellowship thus fostered between the different sections of our community would weld our people together, and enable those who are soon to be possessors of freemen's rights and agents of town government, to form just estimates of each other's capacities and worth.

A hope was expressed in the last annual report that music might be added to the studies of each school, and furnish its enlivening power to the daily exercises. The addition of one teacher to the present force would afford an hour's tuition weekly in every district. The return would certainly counterbalance the outlay.

B. B. SHERMAN, Town Sup't.

Report of Trustees of Public Library.

During the year there have been but few additions to the library by purchase, as the town failed to make any appropriation at the last annual meeting. A large donation of books has been received from Mr Alden Speare, a valuable set of official records of the Civil War from Senator Redfield Proctor, a number of bound magazines from Miss Caroline D. Jones of Oakland, Cal., and smaller gifts from other individuals. Mr. Perley Chandler of Barre presented the beautiful clock which is placed on the wall of the new library room, and the stove in the same room was provided without expense to the town. The citizens should remember that the service of the librarians has been and still is entirely gratuitous. A bill of $10 for fuel is the only one remaining unpaid. We would urge upon the town an appropriation of at least $50 for running expenses and purchase of books for the year ensuing. We give below a statement of receipts and expenditures.

PUBLIC BUILDING.

The committee intrusted with the erection of a Town Hall and Public Library, have acted under certain well defined instructions contained in the Town Clerk's records. These demanded no independent responsibility beyond the conclusion of a building contract, the superintendence of the work while in progress, and the payment of the cost of construction on the basis of their agreement when the work was completed and formally approved. A partial statement was submitted last year, and included in the printed report. Two statements are now presented. The former deals with those moneys which have actually passed through the hands of the committee during the last fiscal year. The latter indicates the cost of plan, situation and construction so far as the committee felt justified in going.

As to the principles which have guided us in our administration of the schools, we have nothing to add to our report of last year. It has seemed necessary to maintain one more school, that in No. 1, for the whole of the year, and a school in No. 6 during 10 weeks. The expenses have therefore been slightly increased. The law requiring towns to purchase and hold text-books for the use of the schools will increase the duties of the directors for the coming year, and will entail an additional expense on the town, but it is impossible at this time to make any estimate of the amount of such expense. The expenses of the present year, a few small items for which orders have not yet been drawn being possibly overlooked, may be classified as follows: Teachers' wages, $1442.30; board of teachers, $583.50; transportation, $118.50; fuel, $90.75; repairs, $23.07; new furniture, $54.55; Chelsea Academy, $835; incidentals, $84.68; total, $3263.55.

We give below a more detailed account of the expenses by schools.

REPORT OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

Another year has passed and an earnest desire of your superintendent has failed of consummation, viz: to demonstrate before your eyes upon a public field day the work done in the several schools that you might have an opportunity for independent judgment upon the productiveness of your school investment. The schools met, it is true, upon Oct. 25, 1894, but upon no broad basis of comparison. It is hoped that this year will not pass without such a competitive gathering.

One high school has been sustained in town the past year, and ten legal common schools in districts 1, 2, 5, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 15 and 17. In No. 6 a fall school of 10 weeks was held for the accommodation of a single citizen. These schools have been administered by 18 different teachers of whom 10 were residents of Chelsea. There were 264 pupils enrolled in them, leaving still about one-seventh of the children of school age without school privilege. This is in most instances explained by the prejudice of the parents against school association, the lack of suitable clothing, or the alleged unconquerable distance between home and school. In some cases, however, it is due to parental indifference and a culpable failure to provide transportation. From such registers as were accessible at the writing of this report, it would appear that the average number of days' attendance for all pupils would exceed the figures of last year and perhaps raise us in this respect above seventh place among Orange county towns. No just cause exists for our low average. Five towns exceed us in the number of days' school for all schools. Five at least—the records of Topsham and Newbury are not published—surpass us in the proportion of school population found in attendance. These are Braintree, Corinth, Randolph, Strafford and Williamstown.

In previous reports emphasis has been put upon the necessity of making everything subordinate to the education of the children. It is not merely to keep in line with their classes and maintain a regular and healthy progress that the pupils' attendance should be uninterrupted. Perseverance, patience and punctuality are as essential as the three R's. Without these the race cannot be won. In factory and railroad towns, the bell, the whistle and the time-table assist old and young to strict and continuous discipline. In farming towns we cannot be too early, we may easily be too late. But the world's watchword is "Speed and Accuracy." If our children are to "get there," they must be taught to pride themselves on a school record without absences, tardy marks or dismissals. These blots upon the register extra calculation can save. I am acquainted with one pupil's record for ten years in which one dismissal, one unblamable tardiness and ten days' absence for sickness were the only delinquencies. Proceed to better such a history. Let the responsibility rest where it ought. The children are not usually the defaulters. These things are a form of good behavior, to teach which is a statutory requirement.

Still farther in the matter of behavior: We need not stickle for the ceremonious ways of the past or return to them. Time will not allow them, but a subtle loss has been incurred since we abandoned them. We do not hear the words "Sir" or "Madame;" and though we may be willing to admit that where all are lords and ladies there is no call to perpetuate old-world class distinctions by the use of these titles, yet One once walked the earth who did not think the equality he possessed was a thing to be grasped. It still looks inhumane to see letters superscribed with the bare name. It still sounds bold to hear the "yes" and "no" of the pupil. But if time saving demand omissions let us not lose the deferential tone and manner that redeem these monosyllables from boorishness. To inform the mind is not education, but to refine thought and feeling and their every form of expression. Manners make the man. Thorough instruction in good behavior means tuition in the usages of good society as well as in good morals. Good morals are promoted by good manners. No allowance by the instructress of discourtesy to herself is a kindness to the pupil. To know and respect the difference between indoor and outdoor play—to be courteous to age and childhood, to girls and persons in authority—is one of the first things a boy should learn. Our teachers have much to do along this line. But teachers cannot build as fast as parents can pull down. The home and school must not be at variance in this work, but must supplement each other. A few years of joint effort can make our boys at once brave and tender, gentle and courageous and clothe our girls with womanliness.

Demeanor on the grounds has much to do with the health and morals of the pupils and calls for more watchful and intelligent supervision. An act of thoughtless rudeness may injure a weak body for life. Scarcely less injurious is the reaction on him who is permitted to remain thoughtless and rough. Conduct in the school-room during study and recitation and in intermission silently fixes habit and shapes character. Unchecked boisterousness in the boy makes an offensively noisy man and the indulgence of a slouching attitude is often the occasion of a slouch in character. One cannot visit many of our schools without justly complaining of the unhealthful positions assumed by the pupils—the rounded shoulders, contracted chest and eyes thrust into the book. Learning gained at the expense of lungs and vision is dearly bought. However this may be remedied—by military drill, Swedish gymnastics, the Emerson movements, vertical writing, singly or combined—something should at once be done to insure among all pupils a naturally erect and wholesome posture. Pupils should be urged in all study to sit with expanded chest, and book at a level with the eye. Correct position on the platform or floor is correct position at the desk. And that which is done in the study hour will easily be done at the recitation.

Previous suggestions of the superintendent have increased in some districts the number of parents' visits. There is room for further increase.

The tax imposed upon the pupils in some instances by the amount of written work leads me to say that in the interest of both pupils and teacher written recitation should yield as far as possible to oral. The daily or tri-weekly penmanship lesson, apart from the two or three tests of each term, should be all that is asked in this kind. The mere manual labor of writing added to the nervous strain of a faithful student means irritability at home and dissatisfaction in school. Nerves will cry out against abuse. The evils of discarding the oral work of a generation ago are inducing educators to return. Oral recitation makes wise requisitions of the student; ready knowledge and the review of the previous process of thought—thinking upon one's feet and immediate expression. In this oral work, in branches like history or geography, rote recitation is not desired. The pupil is too often expected to reproduce the exact words of the manual. And I have heard teachers, questioning with book in hand, continue their queries until the book language was fairly crammed into the pupil's mouth. So to reproduce the author is a feat of memory which may prevent all breadth of conception, all proportion of view. But when the pupil in his own words rehabilitates the author's thought, we know just what impression the writer has made and the reader received, can correct erroneous views and readjust conclusions. To hold a book and question from it is no more teaching than to repeat from memory a mass of undigested words is learning. The teacher must be full of matter, her faculties alert for illustration, her parallel reading enabling her to contribute what the text-book lacks, and her queries suggested by the pupil's replies. But we are still speaking of the value of oral work. Let certain exercises reappear which should never have been laid on the shelf. Give mental arithmetic two half hours per week and divide the school as often for a spelling match, or a geographical or historical review. Several ends will thus be gained: ability to retain the points in an argument and show the steps taken in reasoning, an enlarged and verified vocabulary, and a more full orb'd view of the study of the earth and man.

And now, having referred to one bad method still in vogue among some of our teachers, let me say that while I deeply sympathize with those who teach ungraded schools, and appreciate the task set them to create order and knowledge out of an assemblage ranging from 5-21 years and an elective course occupying each recess and half the noon-ing and stretching from "I see the fat cat" to quadratics, whatever you do, leave not personal culture undone. If you purpose to earn your bread by teaching, earn it and more. Every true workman gives more than he gets. He does it for the work's sake. Love your work, not the dollars it may bring. Be sure that for the perfunctory, soulless, mechanical hearer of recitations, who never shows a pupil the fields of knowledge, provokes him to enter, or stimulates him in methods of search, there soon will nowhere be dollars to earn. One test of love for any calling is the use of opportunities for improvement. Go see how others do it in school and at the institutes. Don't ruin a good mind and waste the leisure days between terms in frivolous amusements or trashy reading. Summer schools may be far away or beyond the limits of your slender purse, though that can hardly be in our time. But there are books expressly for the professional teacher, whose small cost is well invested, and public libraries where substantial brain food may be had without price. Teachers who have crammed for an interview with the county examiner and intend no further effort till the expiration of their certificate demands it, may hold papers but possess no recommendation to any board of directors. Such persons are not calculated to make learning lovable to beginners, to enliven sluggish minds or guide them when aroused. Teachers, go ahead and draw.

It does not seem to me quite just to speak of our most advanced school as a High School. Some intermediate, some grammar, some high and some college preparatory work is done there. At present, principal and assistant, working over hours and otherwise taxing themselves unduly, cannot produce results satisfactory to their own measure or equalling the standard of high schools abroad. This is not to their disparagement. Too much is expected of one man and one woman under a wrong system. Let the plan of giving pupils the fullest cram in the shortest time be flung to the winds. Let it be understood that the pupil does not choose the course, but that the course is chosen for him and fixed. Let the intermediate and grammar work be done elsewhere. Let the principal be so relieved that if pupils wish college preparation he can give it in the lawful hours of school session. Let the English course be expanded to the proper dimensions of a high school curriculum. Add one assistant teacher that History, Literature and German or French may have an exponent and the natural sciences another. The course would then be something like this:

FIRST YEAR.—Begin German or French. Review U. S. History, Arithmetic and Analytic Grammar.

SECOND YEAR.—Begin Physics, English Literature, General History. Continue French or German.

THIRD YEAR.—Physiology, first half; Botany, last half. Continue English Literature and General History, with German or French.

FOURTH YEAR.—Astronomy, first half; Geology, last half. American Literature, General History, German or French.

Indicate upon the graduate's diploma the branches included in the course. The patent feature of such a schedule is the omission of algebra and geometry which should be confined to the college preparatory course.

It is worth our while also to consider whether since Act No. 21 of the last legislature has removed the restriction upon July and August schools, we may not inaugurate other changes which are urged by our cold winters and heavily drifted roads. Would it not be wiser to secure our 28 weeks of school in two long terms of fourteen weeks each? These might be bounded as follows: First term—April 8–July 15 approximately, followed by 5 weeks of vacation. Second term—Aug. 20–Nov. 25 approximately. The time-saving and children's help would thus fall in the shortest days when it would be most grateful. The labor of transportation and danger from exposure would also be minimized.

Let me suggest one more theme for reflection. We cannot see, unless as the result of a private munificence which shall both build and endow, any hope of a central graded school in Chelsea. But if we cannot have that which I am aware many do not want and which I shall be last to urge in the impoverished condition of our people, may we not with existing provisions have the beneficial results of grading? My plan would be: Let Nos. 12 and 10 remain mixed schools. Let only primary and intermediate work be done in Nos. 7, 8 and 11. Divide the No. 1 pupils of these grades between Nos. 7 and 11 according to situation. Create at No. 1 a grammar school for Districts 1, 7, 8 and 11. Close No. 15, which has the smallest quota of Chelsea pupils. Let only primary and intermediate work be done at Nos. 5 and 17. If satisfactory arrangements can be made with the shoe-factory stockholders, consolidate in their building the grammar pupils of districts 2, 3, 15, 5 and 17. By this scheme we have not increased the number of schools, we have one more school-house to sell, and we have simplified the teaching of five schools, while we have made a veritable gain of two grammar schools and one high school. The primary and intermediate schools will not be large, but this too is not an evil, as the pupils may be advanced more rapidly.

In accordance with the statute, an opportunity will be afforded next June for the choice of text books to be used during the next five years. In the departments of Geography, Spelling, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Grammar and Reading, improvement is possible. But one thing is most important: There should then be placed at each teacher's command, for the work of the lower grades, necessary appliances for elementary reading and number work, and for drawing—which stands on a level with other branches prescribed by law to be taught, a globe, a dictionary, and slate-painted cloth or paper black boards, selections for rhetorical use, and a good music chart, with a cabinet in which to keep such tools. I am aware that every avenue of expense should be guarded, but these appliances (except the chart) are inexpensive, and to refuse the small sums required for their purchase is to place both pupils and teachers at a serious disadvantage.

At last annual meeting fifty dollars were appropriated to the library, of which sum ten dollars were soon after paid over to the selectmen, who had previously advanced that amount to pay for wood bought by the trustees. With the remaining forty dollars, and the opportune gift of Charles R. Corwin, over sixty dollars were laid out in new books. Recently, George S. Shaw, a wealthy lumber merchant of Cloquet, Minn., who was born in Chelsea, generously remembered his native town with a gift of one hundred dollars, whose only condition was that it be expended in buying books for the library. Here, also, we give the names of other non-residents who have since its foundation so kindly remembered the library by needed donations of money or books: Miss Harriet D. Hinckley, Boston, Mass. (by bequest), $100; William F. Dickinson, Aurora, Ill., $25; Matthew Hale, Albany, N. Y., $10; Charles R. Corwin, Somerville, Mass., $25; G. Manvo C. Hatch, Grinnell, Ia., $20; Charles Wyman, St. Albans, Vt., $25; Mrs. Ella F. Monteith, Colorado Springs, Col., $15; Mrs. Thomas Hale, Plainfield, N. J., files of Vt. Journal; Mrs. Perley Chandler, Barre, Vt., volumes of J. G. Austen's novels; Miss Caroline D. Jones, Oakland, Cal., bound volumes of Harper's and Atlantic magazines; Harry J. Corwin, Lowell, Mass., unbound magazines; Alden Speare, Newton, Mass., 130 volumes of books; John Wyman, Des Moines, Ia., books; Geo. Wyman, Stanstead, P. Q., bound and unbound volumes of magazines. Besides the forty-four volumes of "Records of the Union and Confederate Armies in the War of the Rebellion" donated by Senator Proctor through the friendly offices of our townsman, J. K. Darling, Esq., we have received two volumes of "Official Records of the Union and Confederate Navies in the War of the Rebellion" by the courtesy of the Hon. H. H. Powers, M. C. from the First District, and also numerous volumes of public documents from Senator Morrill.

To the energy and public spirit of a few village ladies is due the elegant library table of quartered oak which now adorns the former empty space within the large bay-window. During the summer, by request of several public-spirited citizens and two liberal non-residents then sojourning here, the reading-room was amply supplied with periodicals and kept open week-day evenings for some months, the trustees requiring that the library should be allowed to keep and bind for public circulation all periodicals of permanent value. The expense, including light, heat and janitor work, was met by private subscription, C. P. Dickinson being treasurer of the fund raised and attending to its outlay. Owing to the considerable expense of maintenance and the scant patronage it then received, this reading room was, in January last, for a time discontinued, in compliance with a petition presented by subscribers to the fund. The librarian service continues as hitherto gratuitously rendered. Below is appended a statement of receipts and expenditures.

REPORT OF SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

At the beginning of the present school year your school directors, by the advice of our state superintendent, formed a joint board of the academy trustees and school directors for the control of the academy, a custom which we would advise our successors to continue, as it will in no way injure our academy, but will promote unity and harmony throughout the town in maintaining the same, and legally entitle both schools in the academy to their share of the 5 per ct. state school tax.

We have maintained wholly or in part twelve legal schools the past year, and also nine weeks' school in No. 13, which have incurred a total cost of $3,395.86.

To meet this expenditure we have had to draw from the town tax of 50 cents $2,297.60; rent of school land, $31.50; Huntington fund, $46.87; state school tax, $446.62; tuition from other towns, exclusive of tuition paid academy, $49.25: total, $2,871.84.

The expenditures, exclusive of the amount paid for text-books, exceed the receipts by $524.02.

Hearing some complaint of the care we were taking of our new school books, we concluded to have them inspected and counted at the close of the winter term. All were found in good condition excepting the primary speller, which showed wear, and seven more books found than were ordered and paid for, being books given by Mr. Comstock, Mr. Sherman and Mr. Bixby. Our superintendent has now a complete record of all the books owned by the town, which can be seen by calling on him. Pupils are expected to leave the town books at the school-houses at the close of each term, and are not allowed to take them home through vacation; but any one wishing to purchase books can get them of Mr. Sherman.

Following is a list in detail of our schools, teachers and expenses for the past year:

To the Taxpayers of Chelsea.

I beg to report that there is no litigation pending in which the town of Chelsea is interested.

CURTIS S. EMERY, Town Agent.

The excess of liabilities over resources at the close of the present fiscal year, as the foregoing report will show, is $11,646.25, while last year's report showed $10,362.03, making an increase of $1,284.32, which may be accounted for as follows :

There has been expended by the school directors
in excess of the 50c. tax assessed.....	1292 44
There has been expended by the road commissioner, in excess of the 20c. tax assessed.....	523 79
There has been expended for support of poor more than last year .....	266 68

The balance of excess over last year may be accounted for in the above three items, otherwise 100 cts. on a dollar, town tax, would have reduced the town indebtedness 798.59.

School Superintendent's Report.

The usual village schools and eight besides have been maintained throughout the year of twenty-eight weeks, under sixteen teachers, including the principal and preceptress of the academy.

These schools were held in districts 1, 5, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12 and 15. District 13 was granted a spring term of school for six pupils, three of whom had previously attended in district 2.

Add one child under age, and 248 local pupils with 18 from the vicinage—266 in all, have received public instruction during the year.

Pupils properly enrolled in district schools :

From Chelsea .....	189
Brookfield .....	2
Randolph .....	2
Washington .....	6—199

Pupils properly enrolled in higher department of Chelsea Academy :

From Chelsea,—J. M. Comstock .....	40
Chelsea,—L. E. Spalding .....	18
Brookfield .....	3
So. Royalton .....	1
Tunbridge .....	2
Williamstown .....	2— 66
Unenrolled .....	1

From this number, despite much epidemic sickness, death has taken but one—his annual tax for the last five successive years.

Districts 11 and 15 show the smallest enrolment of Chelsea pupils. The smallest attendance in proportion to the enrolment is found in district 10.

A town school was held July 4, in which the pupils from the various sections participated creditably. If one or two schools gained unusual encomiums for brilliant work, it must be remembered that they had spent time principally upon the exercises assigned, while others had not neglected the usual studies of the term in the special preparation. To give the pupils self-command and make both parents and pupils acquainted with the merits of the several schools and the methods of the teachers,—to afford social intercourse and appropriate observance of the time were the objects sought; and it seems desirable to repeat this experiment with variations on each succeeding Independence Day.

Fortnightly teachers' meetings have been held during the winter term, and only one teacher has been absent from all. The superintendent would recommend that the directors, in contracting with teachers and the parties who furnish their board, secure from the former agreement to attend at least three teachers' meetings per term of the school year, and from the latter pledges of transportation; also that the directors offer special inducements to such teachers as shall attend some one of the state summer schools and furnish certificate of such attendance.

In illustration of the branches taught, some books have been drawn from the public library; and much greater advantage of its stores might be taken under the privilege granted by the trustees. None better than the teachers can introduce their pupils to good reading and familiarize the students with the use of the library along school lines. In shaping the future inquiries of our youth, this is quite as essential as accurate and full tuition in the school-room. And here I will farther suggest that while the public library is growing rightly and plentifully in direct provision for our boys and girls, the specific wants of our teachers as a class are unsupplied. We may as ill spare books that teach the teacher as those that help the farmer.

This is the end of the first year's service of public textbooks. Nearly $607.00 have been expended, and a stock of over 1300 books of all kinds, exclusive of writing-books, has been purchased. Of these 266 are still in repository. All volumes have durable covers save the primary spellers, which represent but $16.00 of the bill. And with the understanding that the books remain during vacation in the several school-buildings, at least three years should elapse before there is need of duplication. They have been handled quite as carefully as books privately owned. More than this can hardly be expected.

I would recommend for economy of time and improvement in discipline that the town supply for sale by the teachers at cost price penholders, pens, pencils, drawing-rulers and spelling-blanks ; that at an expense of $2.00 per school, or $20.00 in all, each teacher be furnished for instruction in drawing with a box of geometrical solids ; and at an additional expense of $3.50 that every school receive an A. and C. pitchpipe for such elementary work in music as may be attempted.

And now a final word on graded schools. Have we not had enough of the other kind ? The trouble with an ungraded school system is that we can get less for more money than in any other way. Such a system wears out a teacher's strength, cribbles away her time, prolongs the pupil's course, and helps only the bright ones. If we wish good teachers, we must pay their market price, and the best teachers are getting out of ungraded work with all speed. The evil of the present condition may be shown by a single instance; and let me premise that neither parents nor pupils have probably given a thought to the moral aspects of the case, nor have they realized the forbearance of the directors in such a matter. The instance is that of a school in which some pupils must have learned Greenleaf's arithmetic by heart; and yet the teacher is expected to hear from them an arithmetic recitation precisely as before the adoption of the town system. Is not this an injustice to younger pupils who are defrauded of just so much time? Is it not an injury to the teachers whose every leisure moment gained here might be devoted to the preparation of other lessons? Is it not an unfair draft upon the taxpayers?

The increase of farm tenants over farm owners makes it hard to say what school-buildings should be kept and what sold. Unfortunately our best buildings are situated in districts deserted by school population. And still more unfortunately they cannot be transported. At the points too where we need the best buildings we have, in some respects, the most unsuitable. But if our schools are to keep pace with those of surrounding towns,—if we are to have economic administration of school funds,—if we are to put the best teaching work where it ought to be done—at the very beginning, we must adopt some comparatively inexpensive system of grading.

There are between 45 and 50 pupils of grammar grade in town. These might easily be accommodated in school-houses 1 and 17. Pupils of lower grade now attending these schools would in the former case be divided between districts 7 and 11, and in the latter might be transported to the primary department of the academy, where an assistant would be needed. The same conveyance which brought the primary and intermediate pupils from the upper village could take the grammar pupils back. The expense of an assistant in No. 2 might be met by the discontinuance of the school in No. 10. An agreement with some of the milk carriers could be made whereby wagons, half freight, half passenger, might serve for transportation. This plan is most feasible, most cheap, does away with but one school, relieves the congestion of the higher department of the academy, and assures the best work of the entire teaching force. To arrange for transportation is the most arduous task, but it lies chiefly along main highways.

BARKER B. SHERMAN,
Town Supt. of Schools.

The Overseers have thought best in submitting their report to you to state briefly that the year just passed has been an extraordinary one, so far as the demands and labor devolving upon the Overseers is concerned. Yet we are glad to be able to state that after being at quite a large expense of putting in a silo, almost an entire sugar apparatus, two-horse sled, new logging sled, etc., also putting in the interest on surplus money of $88.32, which was omitted last year, our expenses are $139.94 less than the previous year. In conclusion, we have endeavored to serve our townsmen to the best of our ability with an honest and earnest effort on our part to meet all the demands that have been made upon us, and in such a manner as would best serve the best interest of the people of this town, and in return we ask only a fair and just criticism upon the work we have done.

Report of Trustees of Chelsea Public Library and Alden Speare Memorial Library Building.

During the year now closing the library has had a constantly increasing patronage of readers both interested and intelligent. It is becoming a real necessity to the people of our community. On account of the considerable expense made necessary by the printing of a new catalogue, it was deemed best not to purchase any new books until more money was appropriated by the town, which might be used for this purpose only, together with any unexpended balance of this last year's appropriation. By private contribution have been received thirty-three volumes of the Atlantic Monthly from Rev. Franklin S. Hatch, of Monson, Mass., and John Sherman's "Recollections of Forty Years in House, Senate and Cabinet" from Hon. Elisha May, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., each contribution as timely as it was valuable. Among the books given at one time and another by our towns-people, are four volumes of essays and four volumes of histories by Mrs. Emeline Waterson, a volume of the Century Magazine by Hale K. Darling, Esq., an entire set of James Russell Lowell's works by Rev. B. B. Sherman, "Men of Vermont" and Walton's "Complete Angler" by Hira L. Bixby.

The reading room furniture has been increased by the addition of four elegant chairs of quartered oak, given by an association of public-spirited ladies of the village, to whose munificence the library was last year indebted for the handsome library table of the same material, placed within the large bay-window, as was mentioned in our last report.

To the same spirit of liberality and devotion to the public welfare is due the attractive librarian's table, set inside the book-room, contributed from the proceeds of a public entertainment given last summer by several children residing or visiting in the village. Upon a small nickel plate, imbedded in the table's top, are engraved the names of donors, Nana Moore, Amelia Slack, Chorene Barnes, Sallie Emery.

Below is appended a statement of receipts and expenses.

In presenting you a report of schools for the past year we would say that we have maintained wholly or in part twelve legal schools at a total cost of $3328.35.

The expenditures exceed the receipts by $174.98. The cost of the schools exclusive of books exceed the receipts by $45.16.

We would recommend that the town vote a tax large enough to defray the running expenses of the schools and also to reduce the school debt.

Following is a detailed list of our receipts and expenses :

To the Taxpayers

While a deficiency is always to be deplored we are very glad to be able to state that the one this year is not of large proportion. It is not our intention to criticise any of the town officers, but merely to show the taxpayers just where the deficiency occurs.

We find that the schools have cost $174.98 more than the 50 c. tax, and that the roads have cost $450.11 more than the 20 c. tax, a total of $625.09, otherwise the 100 c. tax would have paid $360 of the indebtedness.

The board of school directors have recommended to the selectmen that a tax of 60 c. on a dollar be raised for the maintainance of schools for the next year; they also recommend an additional tax to reduce the indebtedness of the town school district.

On the proceeding page we have prepared, in a condensed form, for the benefit of taxpayers, a statement of the expenditure of the 100 c. on the dollar tax raised by the town.

Town Superintendent of Schools

Twelve schools have been kept in town during the past year by twenty-three teachers. Thirteen teachers have taught one term of school each in the same district, three have taught two terms and five have completed three terms, while two of the thirteen were re-engaged for single terms in other districts.

Two hundred and ninety two pupils have been instructed. Eleven of these are non-resident. Brookfield, Randolph, Vershire and Williamstown sent one each. Seven came from Washington. The 281 resident students are thus distributed :

These figures may be more emphatically presented as follows :

and the entire 100 per cent. is drawn from 139 families. The census of the town at date is 1140. The number of families, excluding bachelors, spinsters, and widows who are childless or have adult absent children, is 277. Our entire school population therefore is drawn from 50 per ct. of the families in town. The accompanying table affords a partial basis for the comparison of the schools :

Last year under the pressure of hard times and heavy debt the directors were practically restricted by an appropriation made without their recommendation and even without consulting them concerning the possibilities of the year then beginning. This is unjust and establishes a bad precedent. If the past school year has been less progressive than some preceding ones, here—so far as the equipment of the schools is concerned—is the patent cause. For imperfect management the parents themselves are in part responsible. The directors are certainly—if competent for their task, and the town has thus far made a wise selection for this the most important office in its gift—the persons best qualified to name a school appropriation that shall be neither extravagant nor niggardly. If an impartial recommendation is sought, it is more likely to proceed from them. The half of our voters who have no children in the schools may include some who do not always or uniformly feel that devotion to the general welfare which pays the school tax cheerfully. But they who are tempted to minimize the school appropriation and to use their education in denying others a like opportunity must remember their freeman's oath, and that they themselves in youth were partly dependent on non-schooling voters who discharged their constitutional obligations. If the schools are poorly equipped, it is because public spirit is weak and tardy in their support. It is not only the parent of school children who profits by liberality in school finances. The well-taught, well-governed school is the best peace-maker, the swiftest and surest cure for laziness, stubbornness, ignorance, poverty and crime that the State ever designed. Of all human devices none surpasses it in keeping the jail and the poor-house forever empty. And we cannot have well-taught and well-governed schools without cost. For as long as experience and facility have to be bought, so long they will have to be sold high enough to avoid loss. Scanty appropriations mean an efflux of competent teachers to other markets, and an influx of inferior teachers to our market. Good teachers cannot be blamed for leaving. Directors cannot be blamed for executing the will of their constituents.

But good teachers are not the only end to be secured by generous appropriations. Suitable repairs, furniture, and appliances have to be considered. It has too long been the policy of our town and state to allow the teachers to supply not only knowledge, but every agency for the communication of it which his sense of necessity prompted or the extent of his means permitted. We hamper the pupil by placing over him a person without professional love or aptitude. We hamper him scarcely less by denying him those things which light the path where the guide is blind and which simplify the labor of a safe leader.

The changing tenure of our farms has left some of our best school buildings as unavailable as ships borne inland on a tidal wave. Some of the vacant houses were kept in such repair by the citizens of the district under the old system, and some now in use are so inferior to those in towns adjacent as to be a reproach to our community. Nos. 6 (Hatch District), 10 (Strafford road), and 11 (Hunt District), are of such a character. Bad as are these testimonials to our interest in schools, I cannot consistently recommend the expenditure of any considerable sum upon them. They are not worth it. I have long protested against the old double forms which furnish most of the buildings. They distort small children and cramp those of larger growth. They are tributary to disorder; and for one-half of their occupants they are a preventive of good penmanship if not of good scholarship. But what use in furnishing for such buildings the desks that health and progress demand? The academy building is overcrowded, and the larger pupils are still coming up from the outer districts. But it would be folly to attempt the improvement of a structure whose rooms are now too low, too poorly lighted, too rudely ventilated, and too ill arranged for heating. The town has to face in the near future the problem of better accommodations for its school children. A good wooden building of seven rooms and cellar, properly planned, would suffice for the entire school population at a saving of five teachers' salaries, repairs on as many school-houses and fuel for the same. This rebate would pay cost of transportation if the main routes were contracted, mail-fashion. It is possible that friends of the cause of education who were once schoolmates of our citizens might under personal appeal be induced to aid in this enterprise, and so perpetuate their names among us. But while the outlook at home is far from bright, and aid from abroad is a dream as yet, it is wisest business action in the circumstances to devise means for the furtherance of this plan.

I regret that the subject of discipline in our schools makes it necessary to say a few very plain words. Not for a half decade have there been such irregularities as have disturbed the course of instruction the past year, and never has there been more need of firmness in government. Restiveness under control is contagious, and reckless conduct in adults is copied by children. It is plain in some instances that the teacher's authority has been antagonized in the home. Nothing so thwarts a teacher's efforts or so delays a pupil's improvement as the hasty, impetuous, open family discussion of a teacher's act or course. Such crude and prejudiced discussions by parents unacquainted with the facts in dispute and the evidence upholding them, who in a majority of instances have not even visited the schools to observe what is done in them—are un-American. They utterly ignore that fair play for which the English speaking races have ever been famed. Our teachers are set by state law and requirement as much for the teaching of manners and morals as arithmetic or geography. And a parent can complain of no one but himself if it is necessary for a teacher to interrupt the regular class-work to give instruction in behavior or conduct.

The superintendent—whose office is valuable only as it introduces him to the young life in the community, and gives him occasion for showing his sympathy with the pupils' pursuit of knowledge, and with the teachers' endeavor to impart it—in laying down an otherwise thankless and fruitless five years task, would make this suggestion to the new year's board of directors: that, with the exception of the teachers for the village schools, which are so much larger than the others as to require permanence in the teaching force, all teachers be contracted for in general terms rather than for particular schools. Teachers should be movable, partly for the preservation of their own usefulness by testing them in different conditions, partly for the sake of the schools which when becoming indifferent may be awaked by a change. This is the method sanctioned by the best educators and pursued in the foremost schools in the country. The reasons for such a policy are

1. Poor teachers largely choose the schools which they think most easily governed and taught. If it is understood that the directors will locate teachers at will, we shall be spared some applications.

2. The districts containing the largest number of dull or careless pupils need the best teachers in the force. Such districts will retrograde without the best teachers. I have in mind as I write two districts that have so retrograded and two others in which the pupils' work is done in an apathetic and perfunctory manner.

3. Greater uniformity of scholarship will result throughout the town from the policy recommended. This is a far-reaching reason and destined to take a mill-stone from the neck of progressive citizens in years to come.

I will make a kindred suggestion in harmony with the upward tendency which our State Supt. seeks to promote: that those teachers be hired whose certificates proceeding from the best authorities have been of the highest grade; and still farther that the demonstrated fitness of a teacher for a work among us shall warrant the directors in presenting special inducements for said teacher's continuance with us.

A final remark upon the teaching work. There has been during the year a vast, and to a large degree profitless, consumption of writing-books. Habitually conscientious children have been careful here as everywhere. But to many pupils the writing lesson has been a picnic in which they might roam at will, and roamed they have in shape and size of letters, and spelling, and punctuation with blots and finger marks. I heartily recommend that next term the teachers use the blackboard for illustration and the pupils the slate instead of the copy-book, and that instruction be given in elementary strokes, in spacing, in disconnected as well as combined letters; and that at least two whole terms shall be spent on the small and loop letters of corresponding forms before proceeding to capitalization.

Apart from mere imitative work like drawing and writing, the employment of the student may be said to be the study of words or marks of others' thought as an aid to his own thought processes. An inquiring visitor of our schools will find many surprises awaiting him as to the pupils' ideas of word meanings. Intelligent reading, the utility of spelling, the comprehension of arithmetic and geography—all depend on the pupil's conception of the words that fall under his eye and his addition of them to his own vocabulary. In the past words have been treated too much as combinations of letters rather than as signs of ideas. To pronounce them or place their constituent letters in the right order has been too often imagined the sole duty of teacher and pupils. This may make memory machines. It does not make thinking beings. And deficiencies in right instruction have been more patent because teachers without normal experience have simply done what similar teachers had done for them. With a dictionary in every school as at present, a teacher to show its use and point out the charms of word history, we might have been spared one humiliating instance of neglect in elementary instruction which this year's work in the high school has brought to light. The scholars themselves were not blamable. The teacher did not imagine the class would suffer such disastrous defeat. The class in question was composed of pupils whose ages ranged from 14-20, and as a grammar recitation the following exercise was assigned them to supply from the list above the missing words in the sentences below. The small numerals attached to the listed words singly or in pairs show the correct forms.

This outdoes Mark Twain's counterfeit list of examination errors, and reveals ignorance of familiar saws, of oft-quoted verse, of rhythm, and of the dictionary. It is almost too sad to be ludicrous.

But let it not be supposed that this is anything more than an illustration of defective teaching at an earlier stage, and of the cardinal need in our common school work. Good teaching and faithful learning can be shown in the past year as in all the years that have gone before, and the more wide awake and earnest the teacher the better has been the response of the pupil.

Report of Trustees of Chelsea Public Library and Alden Speare Memorial Library Building.

The library has been well patronized during the year past and seems to have established its claims as a permanent institution among us. More new books than usual were purchased last spring with the annual appropriation, and a printed supplement was inserted in the recently published catalogue, thus making it more convenient for patrons to find out what books are in the library. The re-binding of old books and obtaining a portrait of Hon. Alden Speare, the donor, constitute the other items of expense. The former item ought to be less, and if all were as careful as some are in their use, the books would endure much longer. To the courtesy of Senator Justin S. Morrill and of Representative H. Henry Powers, of the First Vermont District, we continue indebted for the reception of valuable public documents. Below follows the statement of receipts and expenditures since our report of last year was presented :

OF

Town Superintendent of Schools.

It becomes my duty as Superintendent to report the work of the school year.

I trust you will also consider a few recommendations for their greater efficiency in the future.

In entering upon my work I feel I may have erred in placing the standard too high, and in expecting as great proficiency in the work of the district school as is attained in the higher schools where the work can be carefully graded, and where both teacher and pupil have the advantage of better appliances, and the stimulating influence of a cheerful, well-lighted, and properly ventilated school-room.

Taking these things into consideration, I feel that conscientious work has been done by the teachers in nearly every instance, and that the town has received a full equivalent for the money which it has expended.

Twelve schools have been maintained during the year, with the exception of District No. 6, which had no winter term.

Fifteen teachers have been employed.

Six schools have been taught continuously by one teacher. The others, with one exception, have retained the same teacher for the last two terms of the year.

I would earnestly recommend to the consideration of taxpayers the importance of making provision whereby the four schools of the village can be so united that the work can be more effectually graded.

While I am fully convinced that a new academy building is necessary to secure the best results, still if an additional room could be provided so that each teacher could be free to do purely Primary, Intermediate, Grammar, and Academic work, according to their grade, the efficiency of the school would be greatly enhanced, with no addition of salary above the present unsatisfactory arrangement. Also recognizing as a fact that if one is to succeed in the fierce competition of the present, he must go forth equipped with far more than the mere rudiments of an education, and that the majority of the children receive their only educational advantages in the schools of the town, and THAT before they are sixteen years of age, all will realize the importance of so increasing the appropriation that the directors may be enabled to extend the school year at least six weeks, and still employ teachers who are fully fitted for their work.

I am pleased to note the increased interest in the study of Physiology as prescribed by law, and trust that the parents and teachers will continue to encourage the children to secure that knowledge which will enable them to develop a strong physique, and at the same time fortify them against the evils which are destroying the brightest and best of our youth.

MRS. W. E. ALLEN, Supt.

CHELSEA, VT., Feb. 9, 1898.

Report of Trustees of Chelsea Public Library and Alden Speare Memorial Library Building.

The library has received its usual patronage during the last year. Less books than usual have been purchased, because of a decreased appropriation. All expenses have been kept at the minimum point, as reference to the treasurer's report will show. Not one cent is paid either for librarian's services or for janitor work. Hence no complaint can be made that the townspeople do not receive all the benefit of the annual appropriation of money made for library use. But it is respectfully urged that the appropriation yearly necessary for this worthy institution should be ungrudgingly granted. A statement of the receipts and expenses of the last year is appended.

Selectmen's Report

The Board of Selectmen present their annual report, with the reports of the other town officers, for the year ending Feb. 20, 1899.

The Board has endeavored, in expending the money entrusted to them, to use it in a conservative and careful manner, expending it only when they believed the public good demanded it.

During the year the liabilities of the town have been decreased $1181.80.

Highway Taxes

As will be seen by this report, the expense of the Road Commissioner in the repairs of highways has exceeded the tax assessed in the sum of $496.74.

Under the provisions of the Statutes the Road Commissioner is authorized to expend the taxes assessed for highway purposes ; and if more are needed provision is made for raising the same by special tax.

We have deemed it better to report the deficiency to the town, and let the same be paid by appropriation made by the voters rather than borrow the requisite sum.

Streets

The streets as a general thing are in a very satisfactory condition, with the exception of Main street from a point near the hotel to the grist mill, which very much needs a sewer to carry away the surface water, which always accumulates in this locality, to the great inconvenience of people living in the vicinity and also to the traveling public.

Report of Overseer

While the expenses at the Farm may seem to some to be larger than my report one year ago, I think it can easily be accounted for in the appraisal of produce on hand compared with one year ago, which made a difference of $125.00.

Considering the depressing times and the large amount of sickness the past winter, I feel that we may congratulate ourselves that our poor account is no larger.

Aid in many cases has been rendered by the associated charities, for which as Overseer I wish to return thanks.

One person, who would have become a town charge, has been made a state charge, which will relieve the town of that expense.

C. P. DICKINSON, Overseer.

OF

Town Superintendent of Schools.

Twelve schools have been maintained in town during the year.

In Districts Nos. 5, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 15, 17, for the time required by statute, in each grade of the Academy and in District No. 2, for thirty-two weeks.

Seventeen teachers have been employed for this work. Of this number three have taught continuously in one school, three others have taught the entire year in town, while five have taught two terms, and six one term.

Although there has not been uniformity in methods, I am convinced that the teachers have been interested in their schools, and have conscientiously tried to do their best.

We trust that in their efforts they have had the earnest co-operation of the parents of their pupils.

In view of the fact that the education of our youth is of greatest importance, and should take the precedence of all other obligations that rest upon us as a town, I can but urge a liberal appropriation for the coming year. The number of weeks of school in the outlying districts should be increased, and the directors should not be obliged to impair the efficiency of even the smallest school from lack of funds.

As the Academy building does not fully supply the existing needs of the school, and all agree that the village schools should be combined in one of four grades, I recommend that until a suitable building can be erected, that a room be secured on the second floor of the Bacon & Hall block for the primary grade, thus leaving the present accommodations for intermediate, grammar and academic work.

The existing practice, which allows our children to elect what studies they shall pursue, and in what order, is manifestly detrimental to their interests and the efficiency of our schools. If possible, a uniform course of study should be adopted, and no promotion should be allowed except upon satisfactory examination.

I would recommend to your consideration the suggestions contained in a pamphlet published by the Tuttle Company, of Rutland, entitled "Course of Studies for the Schools of Vermont."

MRS. W. E. ALLEN, Supt.

CHELSEA, VT., Feb. 17, 1899.

Report of Trustees of Chelsea Public Library and Alden Speare Memorial Library Building.

During the year past its usual patronage has been accorded the library. New books were purchased with the appropriation of last town meeting, and the interest in reading has been well maintained. Among the year's donations was a large consignment of well-selected volumes from the private library of Rev. S. L. B. Speare, of Newton, Mass., the brother of our library's honored founder, Hon. Alden Speare. Besides several interesting books some time ago presented from their own library, the local W. C. T. U. has recently given an instructive biography, entitled "The Life of Frances E. Willard." Our former townsman, Harry J. Corwin, now of Lowell, Mass., has contributed for binding the latest numbers of Harper's Monthly Magazine, according to his custom of many recent years. By the thoughtful insistence of Col. Curtis S. Emery upon our rights as a "free public library," we have received a copy of the valuable "Bibliography of Vermont," prepared by the late Marcus D. Gilman, of Montpelier.

Besides various public documents contributed by United States Senator Jonathan Ross, the library has received, in the order of their publication, eight successive volumes of the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Navies in the War of the Rebellion, furnished by the courtesy of Hon. H. Henry Powers, Representative in Congress from the First Vermont District; and by the courtesy of Hon. William W. Grout, Representative from the Second District, the library is now furnished, in weekly numbers, the Official Gazette of the U. S. Patent Office, containing Patents, Trade-marks, Designs and Labels:

Below is appended a

Report of School Directors.

We have maintained ten legal schools the past year. As there were more pupils from the town of Washington than from this town attending school in No. 15 or the Braman district, we made an arrangement with the Washington school directors to maintain a school in that district, and we paid to them our proportion of cost of said school.

The total cost of schools the past year is $3584.07.

We found that there was more than seventy pupils to attend school in the primary room of No. 2, and that there was no way in which we could arrange for more than ten of them to be accommodated anywhere else. As we considered the number that would be left in that school more than one teacher could do justice to, we considered it absolutely necessary that we finish off another room in that building and divide the school. This accounts for the increased cost of schools the past year.

Aside from the cost of repairing and finishing school house No. 2, the cost of schools the past year is the least of any year since the town system was adopted.

Following is a list in detail of our receipts and expenses :

In making out report we have thought best to state briefly some of the causes for the still further excess of liabilities which appear in the foregoing report.

It was necessary, upon examination, to renew the Court house bridge, and it has been replaced by a substantial iron structure. The bridge was bought early in the season, before iron advanced, and stands the town at least $100 less than the order could be duplicated for to-day. This with the repairs of the other bridge makes the bridge expense far exceeds the usual amount.

The reduction of taxes raised last year as compared with the previous year would make a difference of $1384 in the town's indebtedness.

$490.58 of the town indebtedness can be accounted for in the excess of money appropriated for highway and schools.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

The abandoned farms, together with the decreased number of children in the home, have compelled the school authorities from time to time to vacate nine of the school-houses of our town, and to transfer the care of yet another to the town of Washington, so that but ten schools have been maintained during the year.

In each for the time required by law, save the academic and grammar grades, which have had thirty-two weeks each.

Twelve teachers have been employed. Of this number eight have taught the entire year in town, of whom seven have taught continuously in one school.

As the returns from the districts have not been completed, I am unable to report the number of scholars enrolled, average attendance, and other items of interest.

The much needed fourth department was added to the academy at the beginning of the year, relieving the crowded condition of the rooms, and adding much to the efficiency of each grade.

The directors have also furnished note-books, tablets, pencils, paper, pens and ink in addition to the other school supplies.

I trust the teachers will strive to prevent every wasteful tendency on the part of their pupils to an unnecessary use of these furnishings.

Although the methods and efficiency of our teachers may not be uniform, each having his individual traits of strength and weakness, still I bespeak for them the hearty co-operation of their scholars, and the support, sympathy and kindly advice of all, without which they cannot do their best.

It is to be regretted that some cases of truancy exist. I would urge parents and guardians to allow no obstacle to prevent their children from reaping the benefits afforded by the schools.

Remembering that the church and the school constitute the foundation upon which our nation has been builded, and that they are the hope of its future, I can but urge an appropriation sufficient to increase the efficiency of the schools, and to extend the number of weeks beyond the limit required by law.

I wish to repeat my recommendation of last year, that a uniform course of study be adopted, that no promotion be allowed except upon satisfactory examination, and that the pamphlet entitled "Course of Study for the Schools" of Vermont contains many suggestions worthy of your consideration.

W. E. ALLEN, Supt.
